

Please note the following points about local access to nursing courses offered by Further Education Colleges for those interested in Nursing and Midwifery courses at Edinburgh Napier University

Edinburgh Napier University has Partnership Agreements with 4 local Further Education Colleges – Borders, Edinburgh, Fife and West Lothian Colleges for entry to Adult, Learning Disability, and Mental Health Nursing.

Well over 100 students study each year, on appropriate preparation to nursing and midwifery courses, at our Partner Colleges and those Further Education students have priority in the selection process.

All students attending our access to nursing course within our partnership colleges are required to pass SQA Higher Care or Human Biology at grade C. Any students studying an Access to Nursing course at any other Scottish Further education College would be required to meet this condition to be considered for interview at Edinburgh Napier University for adult, learning disability or mental health nursing.

Child Health Nursing and Midwifery Courses

Students on Access to nursing courses are not considered for either Child Health Nursing or Midwifery.

Students from the Rest of the UK

Applicants who are studying the QAA Access to Higher Education Diploma in a related subject will also be considered for entry to our Nursing courses.
